

Collins, Sought In Shooting of Reid, Still Here

Ex-Convict Said To Be in Hiding, Awaiting Result of Manufacturer's Fight Against Death Victim in Sanatorium

Ohio Police Records Are Said to Show That He Had Been Arrested There

Hunted for four days by the police, Don Collins has remained carefully secluded in New York City. This was learned from an authoritative source yesterday.

Collins, whose real name is Robert Tourbillon, is suspected of having shot John H. Reid in a fit of jealousy and drunken rage last Sunday morning. Reid, with five bullet wounds, was removed from 1822 University Avenue, the Bronx, to the Fordham Hospital.

Following a gay party in the University Avenue house, in which Reid, Mrs. Hazel Davis Warner, owner of the house; Miss Lila Wiley, her cousin, George Kuriger, their uncle, and Francis T. Boylan took part, Collins is alleged to have made his appearance without invitation and shot Reid.

Collins is said to be following closely the course of Reid's struggle against death. Should Reid recover he is not expected to press charges against his assailant, but in the event of his death Collins may strike for the open walk into the police net spread for his capture.

Reid Moved to Sanatorium

In an attempt to save his life Reid was removed yesterday from the hospital to Dr. Lloyd's Sanatorium, at 8 St. Nicholas Place, where three nurses in addition to surgeons, will be in attendance. Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Crakow, stepfather and mother of Reid, applied for permission to move him yesterday, and Dr. Alexander, the visiting surgeon at the hospital, issued a certificate which said that Reid needed careful nursing which could not be given him in a public ward.

German Newspaper and Clan Na Gael Treasurer Made Defendants in Devoxy Case

The New York Volks-Zeitung, the Clan Na Gael, and James Devoxy, editor of the Gaelic American, who were contributors to the $15,000 cash bail given for James Larkin prior to his conviction of criminal anarchy, are trying to recover their money, it was revealed yesterday by a motion made before Supreme Court Justice Tierney by Walter Nelles, an attorney, who is named as defendant in a suit brought by the Clan Na Gael to recover $5,000.

Victim Has Record, Charge

A high official at Police Headquarters in touch with all phases of the shooting, yesterday showed records just received from Ohio, said to involve a man named John H. Reid in criminal offenses. Besides his own name this man is said to have used an alias, John Reagan. On July 13, 1916, the records show, he was arrested in Toledo as a suspicious person. It was alleged, according to the papers, that he had picked a pocket. He was fined $50 and sentenced to thirty days in jail. Three years earlier, on October 31, 1913, he is said to have been arrested in Dallas, Tex. He also was arrested, it is said, in Youngstown, Ohio.

Church Rejects Dry Plea

Jersey Pastor Charges Congregations Are 'Hip-Toters'

A resolution introduced at the Newark Episcopal diocesan convention in Newark yesterday calling for obedience to the Eighteenth Amendment failed to pass.

The Rev. Dr. C. T. Tinker, rector of Grace Episcopal of Nutley, N. J., who introduced the resolution, said churchgoers were hip-toting liquor, and that crime and insanity were increasing because it was easier to hide strong drink than beer.

Lewis Campaign For Mayoralty Opens To-night

Kings District Attorney Will Address the Republican County Committee on Political Issues of the Day

His 1918 Vote Recalled

Conference Board Will Be Appointed to Discuss Coalition Candidates

The Harry E. Lewis boom for Mayor will be launched to-night at the monthly meeting of the Republican County Committee in Bryant Hall, when the District Attorney of Kings County will address the committee on the issues of the day, especially on the matter of the combating of crime.

District Attorney Lewis in 1918 carried Kings County by 74,000 when Alfred E. Smith, the Democratic candidate for Governor, carried it by 54,000. Ever since then the District Attorney's friends have talked about Mr. Lewis as an eligible candidate against Mayor Hylan.

The meeting to-night will do more than hear a speech from Mr. Lewis. A resolution will be put through authorizing President Koehn to appoint a conference committee to meet with similar committees and with independent bodies such as the coalition committee appointed by Joseph M. Bennett looking to the selection of an anti-Tammany slate for the mayoralty campaign.

La Guardia Will Run

The boom for Mr. Lewis adds one more to the eligible receptive candidates for the anti-Tammany mayoralty nomination. The Republicans are fully assured now that F. H. La Guardia, President of the Board of Aldermen, and former Senator William B. Bennett are going into the Republican primary for the mayoralty nomination. Major La Guardia has made it clear that he does not desire a re-nomination. He wants to run against Hylan for Mayor. He asserts that the traction issue will be the leading issue of the campaign, and on that issue he says that he stands for a five-cent fare and the scrapping of various obsolete surface railway lines that are not "paying their keep."

Mr. Bennett says that he intends to enter the Republican primary for the mayoralty nomination, but that if he is beaten in the primary he will drop out of sight.

Mr. Lewis is a receptive candidate for Mayor on his record as a prosecuting officer for the last six years. His friends say that he is the one best bet against Hylan and that his nomination would mean an assured victory. Lewis is an organization Republican, but is not on very close terms with Livingston, his county leader.

Wood's Friends Still Active

The other receptive candidates are Darwin R. James, of Brooklyn; Martin Saxe, former State Senator and member of the State Tax Commission, and Justice James C. Crosey, of the Supreme Court, Brooklyn.

The friends of Colonel Arthur Woods, former Police Commissioner, have not abandoned the idea of bringing about his nomination. The commissioners and heads of departments under the Mitchell administration will meet at a luncheon at the City Club on June 2 to hear a report from a committee on the painting of a portrait of John Murray Mitchell and to talk over the prospects of the coming mayoralty campaign. Darwin R. James has a number of powerful friends among the Mitchell administration—men who are ready to begin missionary work for him in the various boroughs.

Board Will Try Teacher

Accused of Disloyalty

Commissioners Harry B. Chambers, Samuel Stern and George J. Ryan were appointed as a trial board yesterday at the meeting of the Board of Education to take up the case of Sarah Hyams, a cooking teacher, who is charged with disloyalty because she subscribed to the platform of the left wing of the Socialist party.

W. Irving Glover Named

Third Assistant to Hays

Englewood, N. J., Man Given Postoffice Department Place by Harding

From The Tribune's Washington Bureau WASHINGTON, May 18.—The President today nominated W. Irving Glover, of Englewood, N. J., to be third Assistant Postmaster General.

Mr. Glover was born in Brooklyn October 2, 1879. He has lived in Englewood for the last fifteen years. He has been connected with several large business enterprises in New York and is now treasurer of the Afton Holding Corporation of New York City, a large real estate corporation. In addition Mr. Glover has many other large interests. He served as speaker of the New Jersey Legislature in 1920. He is married and has a family of three children.

At the Same Time the President announced that John Edwards, of Mitchell, Ind., had been appointed solicitor for the Postoffice Department.

Power to License Cables

Measure to Prevent Unauthorized Landings Goes to Conference for Revision

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The Senate bill giving the President authority over cable landings on American shores and empowering him to issue licenses for cable operation was passed today by the House. It now goes to conference for smoothing out differences between the House and Senate before it goes to the President.

The measure has been pressed by at least two administrations and is designed to remove any doubt as to the right of the Executive to prevent unauthorized cable landings. This right has been questioned for half a century, and several court actions have resulted. The latest controversy over the question arose last August, when the Western Union Telegraph Company undertook to land at Miami, Fla., its cable connecting at Fortabadoes with the British cable to Brazil.

Two Off for Prison Hour

After They Sold Drink

A record for quick action in arrest, trial and conviction was made in the Hudson County court yesterday when Joseph N. Abel, a saloonkeeper at 202 Pavonia Avenue, Jersey City, and his barkeeper, Emil Bornberg, were arrested and sentenced to three months in the county jail at Laurel Hill, all within an hour. The men started for the penitentiary at exactly 3:30.

The expedition with which the case was handled is due to the new state law, which authorizes trials without juries in certain offenses, among them that of illegal sale of liquor. The arrests were made on warrants issued by Judge McCarthy.

Hundreds Hunting Lost Child; Trail Ends at River Bank

Parents of Missing Arlington, N. J., Boy Refuse to Believe He Has Been Drowned and Spur Search

ARLINGTON, N. J., May 18.—Archibald Northrop, three-and-a-half-year-old son of Archibald B. Northrop, who has been missing from his home since early Monday morning, when he started for a nearby candy store to spend the nickel his mother had given him, is still being sought by hundreds of searchers.

Despite the fact that a hound owned by Chief of Police Boulthorn of Glenrock has three times followed the child's trail from his home to the river bank near the Belleville Boat Club, Mrs. Northrop remains firm in her conviction that the little boy has not been drowned, but is in the keeping of persons who found him wandering. Mrs. Northrop is near collapse at her home from anxiety and sleeplessness.

Last night a new dog was enlisted in the search. This animal, of Belgian breed, is owned by Louis De Winter, of Eagle Rock. It followed the same trail that other dogs had found until approaching the river bank, when it swerved and stopped at an irrigating ditch, in which there is about fifteen feet of water. Led away from the ditch, the dog returned to its Michael Conroy, a friend of the Northrop family, and several times, but found no trace of the missing boy. Joseph Kearns, a United States sailor, of Kearny, also made several dives. The ditch will be searched with grapplers this morning.

The last report of the child's having been seen was 9 o'clock Monday night, when a watchman at the Belleville Boat Club warned him away from the river. Repeated efforts to pick up another trail by dogs have failed. All have found their way to the same spot on the river bank. Grappling has been going on since Tuesday morning, but so far no trace of the body has been discovered, and Archie Northrop, who has watched the work, is as emphatic as Mrs. Northrop in declaring that his child did not fall into the river. At intervals he returns to the home in an effort to reassure the mother, who keeps repeating:

"He is not in the river. You won't find him there. We'll find him safe and sound somewhere."

Boy and Girl Scout parties are working in relays and have searched the country for miles around, calling every family in the effort to find one with which the child may have taken refuge.

Imprints of the child's sandals in soft soil were found on the trail followed by dogs at a distance of a mile and a quarter from his home.

Ruin He Laid to Thieves

Turns Suspicion on Self

Hotel Patron, Arrested, Admits Wrecking Room to Escape Bill, Police Say

"I've been robbed," said Charles A. White last night as he exhibited his chaotic room in the Hotel Pennsylvania to detectives he had called from the West Thirtieth Street police station. "You've been typhooned," amended Detective Phelan, as he regarded the complete and artistic ruin.

So comprehensive was the havoc that the detectives could not believe that mere burglars had devoted their time and attention to the task. They questioned Mr. White painstakingly, and he told them so they said, that he had done it himself because he needed a good excuse for not paying his hotel bill of $74.79. He was locked up.

He said he was a steamship mechanic and came from Canada.

O'Brien Calls Gas Cut 'Sop to Public Opinion'

City to Continue Its Fight for 80-Cent Rate, Declares Corporation Counsel

Corporation Counsel O'Brien, in a statement issued yesterday, declared that the announcement of a proposed reduction in gas rates by the Consolidated Gas Company from $1.10 to $1.23 was not prompted by altruistic motives. He said it was "a familiar strategy of utility companies."

When it feels the touch of the hand of Necessity," said Mr. O'Brien, "in the shape of vigilant opposition of Mayor Hylan and his cabinet, backed by public opinion, it attempts to break the fall by adopting a ruse in which it appears to accede to the wishes of the public in the shape of a mild or moderate reduction in the price. This method was adopted a few years ago by the New York Edison Company when, pseudo-voluntarily, they reduced their rates to avoid a deeper and wider slash in their prices. Likewise the New York Telephone Company, when they were threatened with a forced reduction of 50 per cent in their prices, threw a sop to the public in a similar reduction of 8 per cent.

"This reduction of the Consolidated company will not abate our efforts in the slightest to have the 80-cent gas law sustained in full. Up to May 1 there will be practically $13,000,000 imposed on the city by the Consolidated company in New York City, in the event of our succeeding in the United States Supreme Court."

Woman Asks $100,000

Damages From Hotel Man

Former Lessee of Hotel Belleclaire Sues Present Proprietor on Charges of Fraud

Mrs. Elmer F. Woodbury, whose husband owns the Hotel Belleclaire in San Francisco, filed suit in the Supreme Court yesterday against Robert Blackman, now manager of the Hotel Belleclaire, alleging that he betrayed the confidence which she and her husband reposed in him when they were assessors of the Belleclaire, causing them to lose the hotel and suffer damages which she estimated at $100,000.

They found Mr. Blackman night clerk, and made him assistant manager at an increased salary, she alleges. He was most courteous, she says, and succeeded in having her husband made a Knight Templar, but at the same time was deceiving them concerning the amount of the hotel's indebtedness and was seeking to persuade their financial backer to abandon them. Also, Mrs. Woodbury says, their new assistant manager advised guests not to pay their bills.

This, she says, resulted in $8,000 due her and her husband being withheld by guests and caused them, as lessees of the hotel, to go into bankruptcy. Mr. Blackman now controls the Hotel Belleclaire. Mr. and Mrs. Woodbury were forced for a time after their unfortunate venture in this city to live in a single room, it is said, and did their cooking surreptitiously over a gas jet.

Collins, Sought In Shooting of Reid, Still Here

Ex-Convict Said To Be in Hiding, Awaiting Result of Manufacturer's Fight Against Death Victim in Sanatorium

Ohio Police Records Are Said to Show That He Had Been Arrested There

Hunted for four days by the police, Don Collins has remained carefully secluded in New York City. This was learned from an authoritative source yesterday.

Collins, whose real name is Robert Tourbillon, is suspected of having shot John H. Reid in a fit of jealousy and drunken rage last Sunday morning. Reid, with five bullet wounds, was removed from 1822 University Avenue, the Bronx, to the Fordham Hospital.

Following a gay party in the University Avenue house, in which Reid, Mrs. Hazel Davis Warner, owner of the house; Miss Lila Wiley, her cousin, George Kuriger, their uncle, and Francis T. Boylan took part, Collins is alleged to have made his appearance without invitation and shot Reid.

Collins is said to be following closely the course of Reid's struggle against death. Should Reid recover he is not expected to press charges against his assailant, but in the event of his death Collins may strike for the open walk into the police net spread for his capture.

Reid Moved to Sanatorium

In an attempt to save his life Reid was removed yesterday from the hospital to Dr. Lloyd's Sanatorium, at 8 St. Nicholas Place, where three nurses in addition to surgeons, will be in attendance. Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Crakow, stepfather and mother of Reid, applied for permission to move him yesterday, and Dr. Alexander, the visiting surgeon at the hospital, issued a certificate which said that Reid needed careful nursing which could not be given him in a public ward.

After a conference with District Attorney Edward J. Glennon, County Judge Gibbs was requested to commit Reid as a material witness and to fix bail so that he might be moved to a private sanatorium. The amount of bail was set at $5,000, which was furnished.

Victim Has Record, Charge

A high official at Police Headquarters in touch with all phases of the shooting, yesterday showed records just received from Ohio, said to involve a man named John H. Reid in criminal offenses.
